T. C. Officers Installed At Student Body Ceremony

Class Presidents, Executive Board Receive Pins Of Office

The installation of the new student body officers took place Thursday, April 24, at one o'clock, in room L.

Kay O'Sullivan presided. She introduced the new editor of the Bay Leaf, Elizabeth Fiske, and the new editor of the Annual, Ciwa Griffiths.

There followed an exchange of pins between class presidents. Exchange was made between Aileen Broderson and Marie Reghli, Margaret Lemon and Thelma Rees, Dorothy Singer and Jane Grant, Ruth Reay and Elizabeth McKenzie, Muriel Jacobs and Jacqueline Beedle. Pauline McDonald, senior president, and Gertrude Gibson, degree student president, handed their pins to Kay O'Sullivan.

Mr. Zimaski, from the city election offices, made a speech about elections, the rights of citizens, and the census. He installed Catherine O'Sullivan and gave her a facsimile of the certificate that is given to county officers. Following this, he also installed the other officers.

Leah Boehm led a yell for the new officers and Mr. Zimaski.

Gola Sanders, vice-president, took charge toward the end of the meeting. Dr. Roberts congratulated the student body on the work they have done during this year, which, he said, has been very difficult. He then presented pins to the past student body officers.

Dorothy Williamson, the new yell leader, led cheers for the old officers. Next, Gola Sanders presented Kay with a gift from the student body, given in appreciation of what she has done.

After a yell was given for the re-elected president, she thanked the student body for the honor given her and promised to do her best to ably fill the position the next year. Gola Sanders closed the installation exercises.

Ciwa Griffiths Chosen Editor Of 1931 Annual

Ciwa Griffiths is Editor-in-Chief of the 1931 "Franciscan". At the last meeting of the Annual Board of Control, Miss Griffiths was selected to head the publication of the next year book. This S. T. C. sophomore has just completed six months as Editor of the "Bay Leaf".

According to Miss Leona Rose, 1930 "Franciscan" editor, Miss Griffiths demonstrated her ability with her assistance of the current book. Journalism experience in high school plus her two semesters of experience on the Bay Leaf gave her valuable training for this important work.

The issuing of a year book places a huge responsibility on the editor, according to Mrs. Ellsworth, editorial advisor. With the assistance of Mrs. Ellsworth, the editor selects the theme. With the approval of the Board of Directors, sponsored by Miss Carter, she appoints the associate editors.

Further work involved in the annual is the taking of photographs, the drawing of division and sub-division pages, and the writing of copy—all of which the editor supervises.

The Board of Directors selects a business manager who helps to finance the book in conjunction with the editor.

Under Mr. Butler, retiring sponsor of the Bay Leaf, Miss Griffiths proved her supervising ability in the successful running of this semester's semi-monthly paper.

Dr. Roberts took part in the eleventh annual observance of Public Schools Week, Thursday, April 24, when he talked to the parents and guests of the Lafayette School in San Francisco.

School Dedication To Be Postponed

Due to the fact that the furniture has not yet arrived and that the school yard is in a poor condition, it has been deemed wise to postpone the dedication of the new Frederic Burk School.

According to Dean Du Four, visitors will get a very unfavorable impression of the school if they view it in its present incomplete state. The dedication of Anderson Hall had such a pleasing effect on those who attended that it would be a shame not to give the same impression with the training school.

The graduation committee was unanimous in its request that the dedication should not be held this semester. They presented a petition to Dr. Roberts asking him to defer the services. Dr. Roberts heartily agreed with them.

Definite plans for the time of the dedication have not been made, but it may not be held until the latter part of the fall semester.

Julian Hawthorne Lectures At T. C.

The largest assembly of the term was held Wednesday, April 16, in Room L, when S. T. C. was honored with the presence of Mr. Julian Hawthorne. Mr. Hawthorne, the son of the eminent Nathaniel Hawthorne, came to S. T. C. through the efforts of Dr. Arnesen and the Bookaneers Club, to deliver a talk about his father.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Arnesen, who gave an interesting review of the lives of both Julian Hawthorne and his father. Mr. Hawthorne spoke of his father as an author and as a man. He spoke of his father's early work as an interpretation of his thoughts in connection with his ideas of the surrounding world.

Students Turn Serious Minded

"Did you get that assignment? I have six to make up."

Please don't bother me." What'll we give her for graduation?"

These are just snatches of conversations to be heard in the co-op these days, with vacation just two weeks away and "exes" looming large and threatening before the eyes of students. Never before in the term have so many theatre party invitations met with refusals. Students here have become exceedingly serious minded. The answer to the question "going to class today?" is no longer "Heck, no. Went yesterday," but rather, "Of course. I didn't go a week ago Monday. Gee, I have to study."

Examinations have strange effects upon the minds of students.

Dolls Greet Guests At Dance Festival

Dolls dressed in folk costumes and ushers wearing organdy frocks and carrying programs in large leghorn hats will greet guests on Friday evening, May 2, at the Dance Festival to be given in the Everett Junior High School auditorium.

The program will be divided into three parts. The first of the program will be made up of English and Danish folk dances. The natural dancers make up the second part, and the program ends with "King Nutcracker."

The dolls have been dressed by the students of the advanced folk dancing classes. Each doll will represent the festive costume of a foreign land.

The program is as follows:

Overature

A. Spring Folk Festival.

I. English May Pole dancers.
   (a) Row Well, ye Mariners.
   (b) Gathering Paescods.
   (c) Bluff King Hol.

II. Danish dancers worship the Spirit of the Forest and the Sun with the coming of Spring.

III
   (a) Mountain March.
   (b) Shoe Maker's Dance.
   (c) Little Man in a Fix.

B. Natural Dancers created by members of the advanced classes.
   (a) The Cloud Dance—Leah Boehm and Miss Hull.
   (b) Eccentric Dance—P. E. 15 B-Classes.
   (c) The Somnambulist, Phylis Haley.

S. T. C. has another feather in its cap. Other colleges, including Columbia University in New York, have come to the conclusion that we are worth recognizing.

On March 31, Dr. Roberts received a letter from Adam Leroy Jones, director at Columbia University, to the effect that S. T. C. of San Francisco has been placed upon the list of institutions whose degrees are accepted for admission to graduate standing in the Teacher's College of Columbia. This means that our college is rated as one of the best.

Mrs. Ellsworth Takes New Sponsorship Of Bay Leaf

Mr. Butler Resigns Position After Five Years At Head

As a third lap in the development of the college newspaper, Mrs. Ellsworth, of the English department, is to take over the sponsoring of the "Bay Leaf" in place of Mr. Butler. Mrs. Ellsworth is also the editorial faculty advisor of the "Franciscan."

As the first editor under Mrs. Ellsworth, Elizabeth Fiske has been chosen by the Board of Control to head the "Bay Leaf" for the Fall semester. Miss Fiske has chosen Mildred Scott as make-up Editor and Louise Miclo as News Editor. Miss Fiske occupied the position of make-up Editor under Miss Ciwa Griffiths.

Mr. Butler, who for the past five years has taught English 15 and 115, beginning and advanced journalism, is turning the work over to Mrs. Ellsworth. He will give two new courses in education next term. They are Education 186, Professional Adjustment of the Teacher, and Education 102, History of American Education.

Mrs. Ellsworth will now devote most of her time to the journalism courses. Under her direction the Bay Leaf will be expanded to a weekly. A fee of $1.00 per semester, an increase of 100 per cent over that previously collected, will supply the funds for the expanded paper.

The present college newspaper was begun as a mimeographed sheet under the direction of Mrs. G. Myers, an English instructor. It was called the "Vigilante" and had as its motto, "We come in search of truth." It was really a medium for the publishing of the literary efforts of Mrs. Myers' English students.

In 1924, Mr. Butler came to S. T. C., and Mr. Anderson, then president of the college, requested that he take charge of the paper.

Mr. Butler first instituted a course in journalism for which two units were given. He was also instrumental in installing the system whereby the student body elects a board of control, which, in turn, chooses the editor and several associate editors. Before that time the editor had been elected by popular vote.

Many students objected to the name "Vigilante" because of its connotation.. A contest was, therefore, held, and the name "Bay Leaf" was accepted by the first Board of Control of six members sponsored by Miss Anderson.

Vivian Green was the last editor of the Vigilante, and Dorothy Petsch the first editor of the Bay Leaf.

The journalism course is now one of three units, and the advanced class is one of two units. The advanced students consist of the editor and the associates.

Operetta By Glee Club Successful

April 25 was a grand and glorious night. Everybody said so; that is everybody who saw "Lolita," the colorful Spanish operetta presented that night by the S. T. C. Glee Club.

From the loud applause as the curtain rose on a tableau of gypsies, to the grand finale when the Countess and her Lolita were reunited, it was acclaimed by the audience as a huge success.

The gypsy dancing, the solos by Carmelita, Edith Schultze; Fedalma, Avis Kuhn; Countess Isabella, Dorothy Asher; Queen Hinda, Rose Ruscito; and the solo dance by Evelyn Rafter were adjudged by many members of the audience as especially beautiful.

Between the first and second acts Dr. Roberts extended the gratitude of the Glee Club to those persons who had aided in its production. At that time he also introduced the authors, Viola Giesen, Avis Kuhn, and Orenda Woods. Miss Levy, director of the operetta, was presented with a large basket of spring flowers.

A Spanish atmosphere was obtained throughout the auditorium by the ushers in their mantillas and shawls.

Dorothy Asher, president of the Glee Club, said after the performance, "It would have been impossible to produce 'Lolita' if it hadn't been for Miss Levy and the cooperation of the club members."

1930 Year Book Issue Promised Monday, May 5

The "Franciscan" will be out Monday afternoon, May 5.

A system of distribution is being devised by members of the business staff and Mr. Boulware. Receipts will be issued, and only those who receive them will be entitled to books. Phyllis F. Bush is in charge.

The 1930 yearbook, edited by Leona Rose, promises to surpass its predecessors with its boy and girl theme. Each of the six hand-colored inserts, or division pages, has from one to six sub-divisions which are photographic silhouettes posed by various members of the college.

The section, "Year," is subdivided into the units: Representative Students, Pictorial, Music, Dramatics, Publications, and Society. The most unusual of these is the photograph of a young man stabbing a girl; this introduces Dramatics.

Under "Organizations" are Student Administration, a young woman with a gavel laying down the law to a member of the opposite sex, and Campus Groups, Joe College and Betty, his girl friend, shaking hands.

"Features," the latest insert, is followed by the Humor section and the advertisements. The Humor sub-division shows a girl thrashing a young man with a deadly weapon.

FAREWELL, SENIORS

Seniors, your journey in college is finished. Your journey in your life's work is just begun. Many of you will go out into schools all over the state. Some of you will marry, and a few of you will go into other lines of occupation. Wherever you are, whatever you are doing, your Alma Mater wishes you the best of luck and the heighths of success. Farewell, May Seniors, farewell!

LOOKING FORWARD

This is the close of an eventful semester. The Frederic Burk School stands complete; the campus is rapidly assuming an air of readiness, offices are being moved to the old training school building.

We are glad that this year is over. It has been a difficult one for everybody connected with the college. But even while we are glad that we are through for a few weeks, we shall be looking forward to our return in the fall.

STUDENT OPINION

That S. T. C. is not collegiate is the contention of many of its students.

Students about the campus have been heard murmuring about the non-collegiate appearance of the BAY LEAF. They hold that in comparison to the papers of other colleges, even of like size, the BAY LEAF resembles a high school paper. In opposition to this group, is a group which is perfectly satisfied with the paper, except that there is too much faculty news carried. However this faction blames the students themselves for this defect because of the lack of interest shown by the student body as a whole.

There are students who contend that the lack of collegiate atmosphere at S. T. C. is due to the absence of social fraternities and sororities on the campus.

Rumors of a movement to organize such fraternities has been heard, but so far no definite action has been taken.

Pilgrimage To End In Informal Party

An informal gathering to be held in Room L, Monday, May 5, immediately after the Pilgrimage, was planned by the Seniors at a class meeting, Monday, May 29.

Arrangements for the Pilgrimage were completed at the same meeting.

Virginia Reed will give a farewell address at Anderson Hall; Dr. Barney will answer.

At the gym Kay O'Farrell will speak; Miss Holtz will respond.

The address will be made at the kindergarten by Gertrude Foster; the answer will be given by Miss Barbour.

Ellena Baccigalupi will give the farewell speech at the training school; Mr. Gist will answer.

The final address will be made by Pauline McDonald. Dr. Roberts will give the response in Room L.

After the response, the informal gathering will take place. There will be entertainment and refreshments. Minnie Kern and Frances Miser are in charge of this part of the program.

At a meeting Monday, April 14, the College Theatre voted for revisions of the constitution of the organization.

The changes were voted upon but the results were not given out. The revisions will be made known at a meeting later on in the term.

Instructor Plans Trip In Europe

Miss Barbour will leave May 12, on the Stuttgart, a North German Lord Steamer, for Bremen, Germany. She will travel with the International Institute, a group of 50 people selected from the universities and colleges throughout the United States. An entire section of the boat will be given to the travelers, who are studying the problems of modren education. Lectures will be given each day.

In Germany the club will be entertained by the International Institute of Germany. They will be taken to the German schools where an intensive study will be made of the "youth" movement and child welfare work.

After one month in Germany, the voyagers will turn to sightseeing. They intend to spend two days at Ober-Amergau where they will see one of the famous passion plays. Other countries on the itinerary are Italy, France, England, and Holland.

Prohibition has come to haunt S. T. C. English 1-B students under Miss Kleinecke and Mrs. Ellsworth will write, for their final themes, on "The Significance in Human Progress of the World Movement Against Alcohol and Narcotic Drugs." The papers will be 1500 words in length.

SENIORS BELIEVE GRADUATION CAN BE LESS FORMAL

"Topsy's Roost" Joint For Affair

That "Topsy's Roost" has been secured for the graduation ceremony, was revealed today by the chairman in charge of the special committee.

This place is considered ideal for such a purpose because it has facilities for the graduation exercises, banquet, and formal combined.

The committee is making every effort to create a less formal atmosphere than there has been attained in former years. The graduates will wear evening gowns instead of the usual sombre cap and gown.

The visiting speaker will be Elinor Glyn, whose subject will be "Such Men Are Dangerous". This will deal mainly with superintendents and principals. Frances Miser will give the valedictorian speech. Her topic will be "The Psychology of a Backward Child." Miss Miser has maintained a straight record "F" average, a record not heretofore achieved at S. T. C. Reverend Freetchle will pronounce the benediction. Mr. Morse and Miss Holtz will sing a duet entitled "Alma Mammy".

The program will open with a banquet. Seniors will be seated in upper tiers. After the conclusion of the dinner, they will descend by the slide. Dr. Roberts will present the diplomas to each as he reaches the foot. The processional will be the Varsity Drag.

Will Rogers will present the scholarship rewards, which will be in the form of ivory soap medals.

The remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing. "Show Me the Way to Go Home" will be played promptly at 3 a. m. to aid all those parents who desire their daughters to be home at an early hour.

Seniors In Favor Of Less Formality

That graduation exercises are too formal, is the complaint of a number of students on the campus.

They declare that, instead of calling seniors by their registered names when the diplomas are presented, it would be more appropriate and friendly to use the name by which they are known to their friends.

A group of public-spirited students have compiled the following list for use at the graduation:

Frivolous Anderson, Blondey Davenport, Sis Caesarina, Squeaky Debb, Peanuts Bergren, Maggie Donelon, Lanky Berman, Dorty nee Dortignac, Bum Boehm, Rough and Ready Edwards, Red Brady, Fuzzy Foster, Crabby Crabtree, Quinevere Garartt, Dolly Crosier, Lanky Gifford, Slim Cusick, Ed Grimes, Baby Hanlon, T. N. T. Mac Dougall, Tomboy Harrington, Moon Mc Keever, Sienna Heflin, Peroxide Merg, Pansy Howard, Frantic Miser, Flip Ivens, Weenie Shay, Oakland Johnson, Mush Sape, Fruitvale Johnson, Ma Vernon Sarkastic Kagle, Six Karat Cohn, Tiny Keily, Katinka Hamakar, Tatsy London, Snooky O'Farrell, Johnny Long, One Man Starrett, Loopy Lopesco, and Prexy Mc Donald.

Freshmen of the class of May '33 held a candy sale, Wednesday, April 23, in the halls. Nearly fifty students donated sweets. Some, however, contributed money.

Senior Program Makes Full Week

Senior week, starting Saturday, May 3, and ending Friday evening, May 9, promises to be a very busy time for the graduates.

The Fairmont Hotel will be the setting for the Senior Student Body Formal, Saturday evening, May 3. Definite plans for this affair have not been made.

A president and faculty reception is being planned for the graduating class, Wednesday, May 7. Those in charge are hoping to make it as big a success as the one held last semester.

The senior program is as follows:

On Thursday, May 8, there will be a pilgrimage for the faculty and the graduates. This pilgrimage was introduced at S. T. C. last semester. A formal luncheon is also being planned by the senior class for this same day.

The graduation exercises will be held at Everett Junior High School, Friday, May 9 at 8:00 p. m. These exercises will be the result of daily morning and afternoon rehearsals.

Degree Breakfast Held At Seaside

Dashing waves and blue seas will provide the setting for the Degree Student breakfast to be given at Taits-at-the-Beach at eleven o'clock Sunday, May 4. The Bachelors will give their graduation week celebration in a private room overlooking the ocean.

Florence Smart, who is in charge of the breakfast, urges the Degree Students to sign up immediately so as to be sure of transportation. The members of the arrangements committee are, Florence Smart, Hazel Westphal, Edythe Forrest, and Pearl Levin.

SENIORS TO BE BUSY IN FUTURE HOLDS PROPHET

T. C. Class Members Seen at Tasks

Twenty years from now the world will be a different stage—full of new scenery and a flock of strange actors. According to Madam Wisenheimer, noted mystic, the end of the next quarter century will see the following things:

Virginia Reid toting a perambulator up a hill, while one of the inmates yells, "Granny." Helen Merz drying her blond hair in the sun, with a bottle of peroxide beside her; Pauline McDonald chewing "slow gum" after the "kids" leave school; Gola Sanders "snapping" Lindy and Clara Bow with Rex Beach as a background; Frances Miser and Minnie Kern talking turkey to a couple of Johnnies in a two-teacher school at Colma; Vivian Walsh fiddling her way to fame playing obligatos for Maurice Chevalier; Claire Grimes dramatizing "Red Riding Hood" on the Duffy circuit; True Gifford writing letters in the Capitol behind a door marked "Secretary"; Margaret McDougall editing a column "The Why and Wherein of the Lovelorn"; Lucy Jane Williams keeping the wolf from the door with her hubby's pet gadget; Esther Wacholder dancing on Broadway to the tune of "Pet and Forty"; Pearl Levin teaching Dr. Arnesen Jr. the principles of democracy by means of a tour through Howard street; Mildred Smith and Leah Boehm coaching at Iceland with the motto, "Two Spills per Skate"; Grace Haupthi advising the throng on the color scheme of the Scotch plaid; Mary Mortigia puffing painfully next to Nurmi at every annual track meet; Katherine Mamaker burning the bacon for the family's breakfast; Roy Hanlon teaching the kindergarten how to play tennis; Ann McHugh giving an Easter Egg Hunt for the suffering Armenians; Regina Werne ruling her spouse with an iron will or an iron crowbar; Myrtle Saxe looking for a "shiek" who doesn't play the instrument after which she was named.

Formal Tomorrow To Honor Seniors

Lost, a low senior class.

Because of this fact, the student body will give the seniors their farewell formal, Saturday, May 3. The Gold Ball Room of the Fairmont Hotel will be the scene of the affair. A 7-piece orchestra under the direction of Anson Weeks will furnish dance tunes.

This is the first time the Seniors have had the Student Body Formal given in their honor. Those planning it promised that it will long be remembered by those who attend. Social surprise favors for the seniors are being worked out. The scheme of silver print on black is being used for the programs. The college seal will appear on one corner.

The bids for the Student Body members will cost one dollar. Those who have been invited to be patrons and patronesses are: Dr. and Mrs. Roberts, Dean and Mrs. Du Four, Dr. and Mrs. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Lund, Miss Mary A. Ward, and Miss Eva A. Levy.

Edith Schultze is the chairman in charge of the affair. Her committee is: Dorothy Singer, Dorothy Asher, Ruth Brazel, Dorothy Caswell, Margaret Lemon, Muriel Jacobs, Ruth Reay, and Alice Zander.

Installation Dinner Held By T.C. Club

Phi Lambda Chi gave a formal installation dinner, Wednesday, April 30, at the Bellevue Hotel, 505 Geary street. It was held in the large private dining room at 6:30. The officers that were installed were elected Thursday, April 24.

The entertainment consisted of songs by Hazel Dell Adamson and her sister and a talk by Miss Minnie Brown, an alumnus who spoke on the past of this club. There was also a speaker for the topic, "The Future of the Club."

During the dinner there was a professional fashion show given by one of the leading houses of the city.

The room was decorated in spring flowers. The favors were little, old fashioned pink ladies. There were corsages at each place.

Mr. and Mrs. Gist were the guests of honor. Mr. Gist spoke on "What the Club Means to the College."

The alumnae as well as the sponsors were invited. The sponsors are: Miss McFadden, Mrs. Dorris, Mrs. Gist, Mrs. Du Four, Miss Daly, Miss Allcutt, Miss Levy, Miss Holmes, Miss Anderson, and Miss Crompton.

Sue Ella Barnett was the chairman in charge of the affair. The committee members under her were: Ellen Alexander, Lurline Miguel, Audrey Moore, Kay Schurtz, Frieda Raemch, and Kay Sellers.

S. T. C. Students' Work On Exhibit

Art students here are now exhibiting their creations at Mills College. The S. T. C. "Whistlers" are showing their work under the sponsorship of Miss Mayer and Mrs. Cooch. The exhibit, which will be open from two to five o'clock, will last the entire month of April. The annual exhibit is the realization of years of effort on the part of the Pacific Art Association, an organized group of art teachers formed eight years ago.

State teachers' colleges, other than S. T. C., participating in the event, are Fresno, San Jose, and Chico. These colleges differ from S. T. C. in that they have the advantage of an Art Major, which results in their having more advanced exhibits. Miss Mayer spoke of a desire for an Art Major in S. T. C., and announced her hope of having more advanced work as a result.

She declared the exhibit to be most interesting from the standpoint of the manner in which the material was compiled. A great deal of restraint and discrimination has been shown in its selection.

Phyliss Haley Wins Constitution Contest

The hearing of the orations for the Sixth National Inter-collegiate Oratical Contest on the Constitution took place Friday, April 11, at two o'clock. Phyliss Haley was adjudged the best of the three speakers. The other two were Everett O'Rourke and Melecio Vera.

The three judges were Dr. Michell, Mrs. Ellsworth, and Dr. Arnesen. Miss Richards introduced the speakers.

Miss Haley spoke on the topic, Constitutional Ideals. She will speak again at St. Mary's College, the place of the next regional contest. If she wins there, she will speak at the University of Oregon. The finals will be held at Los Angeles in May.

No woman has as yet reached the finals in the five previous contests. Seven prizes amounting to $5000 are being offered.

Miss Heim Winner In Local Contest

As a result of a contest held at S. T. C. on the subject, "The Significance in Human Progress of the World Movement Against Alcohol and Narcotic Drugs," Miss Alice Heim was entered in the California State contest on prohibition, Tuesday, April 22, at Modesto Junior College. Miss Heim was considered second best speaker. The president of the California Debating Society of Santa Clara Junior College won the $25.00 state prize.

The state contest and the local contest were held under the sponsorship of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Ellsworth, Miss Kleinecke, and Miss Bock were the judges of the nine S. T. C. speakers who delivered their addresses in room 110, Anderson Hall, April 21 at 9:00 and 12:00 o'clock.

The prizes of $10, $7, $5, and $3 were awarded to Alice Heim, Elizabeth Best, Syliva Burke, and Phyliss Haley, respectively. Miss Richards, sponsor of the Delta Sigma, introduced the speakers. Other students who participated in the local discussions were: Constance Emery, Beatrice Harms, Winifred St. John, Charlene Crawford, and Constance Waters.

December '31 Goes On A Weiner Roast

Burnt "weinies", sand, and impromptu entertainment were the main features of the December '31 class weiner-roast which took place at Bakers Beach, Wednesday evening, April 23.

After arriving at the beach the juniors built a roaring bonfire. Being hungry, they couldn't wait for coals to form, but cooked the weiners right away. As a result the hot dogs tasted a bit carboniferous.

Between the courses of mustard and sand, entertainment was provided by Muriel Jacobs and Jacquelyn Beedle, who did an Adagio dance.

After the cookies, Sarah Mason and Edna Denhard put on a dance called the "Cloud". Laura David gave a reading just before the marshmallows were singed.

Miss Casebolt, the guest of honor, was asked to perform, but, in the face of such overwhelming talent, she declined.

It takes more than sand to down the juniors according to Muriel Jacobs, class president.

Dinner-Play Given High Freshmen

The class of May '33 at last decided upon the date for its class and theatre party. It was given Friday, April 30, at Thomson's Dining Room. The members of the class met there and enjoyed a novel dinner together. Afterward they went in a group to the Alcazar Theatre.

The following constitute the committee chosen to plan social functions and further class spirit for the freshman class. General chairman, Miss Ruth Jones; publicity chairman, Marion Tardif; invitation, Viola Wagner; food chairman, Miss "Dot" Bradford; Hotel chairman, Margaret Cassidy; decoration, Dale Brown.

Gola Sanders, vice-president of the Student Body of S. T. C., just returned from a forced vacation which was brought about by a serious illness. She was confined to bed for two weeks with rheumatic fever.

But evidently Gola enjoyed her rest, for she is still talking about the books, candy, flowers, and company that she received during her two weeks absence.

Karnival Held By Club A Success

A trip through practically every sort of concession possible, from a French Cafe to an American Hot Dog Stand, was taken by those who attended the Phi Lambda Chi Karnival given at the club's house Friday, April 11, from three to ten o'clock.

Every room in the three stories of the house was used for at least one of the many amusement places.

After a dinner in the French Cafe', the guests sideled in to see the gypsy fortune teller who told them, besides many other things, that they would live through the evening. The noted palmist was none other than Miss Vivian Olson, secretary to Dr. Roberts.

Assured of their "lives," the joy-seekers dropped into see the "Hollywood Review in Silhouette." This was presented by the club alumnae. Such characters as Janet Gaynor, Joan Crawford, and Maurice Chevalier were impersonated by Gussie Higginson, Eleanor Mc Carthy, and Margaret Higginson, respectively.

Prompted by this show, the vainer element in the crowd hurried into the next booth. Here they had their silhouttes drawn, confident that they, too, resembled one of the stars.

Other show fans pushed their way into the unique puppet show given by Helen Munter and her assistant puppeteer. The audience fairly rocked with laughter at the characterization of that old story, "Master of All Masters."

After testing their skill in the bowling alley and trying fisherman's luck in the pond, the enthusiastic guests satisfied their well-earned hunger with a hot dog or two as they trudged out of the front door.

Margaret "Mickey" Moskow was in charge of the Karnival. Katherine Sellers supervised the French Cafe'. Sue Ella Barnett and Jessica Wayland served the hot dogs.

Miss Vernon, house mother of Phi Lambda Chi, went from booth to booth assisting wherever necessary.

If the opinion of those who were present counts, the Karnival was the most successful affair ever given by the club.

Salaries Safe For Teachers In Crash

Teachers' salaries are safe, thinks Dr. Cave, even though the 1929 stock deflation has led the country into the worst depression since the post-war debach.

The financial crisis of 1921, which was much more severe than the present one, and which lasted for a longer time, resulted in a bad drop in teachers' pay, especially in the middle west.

Dr. Cave believes that the action of the Federal Reserve Board, which began its remedical work even before the crash, will greatly relieve the financial situation. Big business may prove to be another stabilizing influence. Industrial organizations, at the request of President Hoover, are carrying out programs outlined before the depression.

Another factor which he considers to be encouraging is the launching of extensive building projects by the state and Federal Government.

Dr. Cave is of the opinion that this depression will be over before the summer of 1931.

Plans are underway for the second faculty formal tea to be given for the seniors, Wednesday, May 7, from four to six o'clock. It will take place in the library of the Frederic Burk Training School.

Two Short Plays Given By Theatre

Room "L" echoed with the merriment of students Tuesday, April 15, when the College Theatre presented "Easy Terms" and "Good Night."

"Easy Terms" is a drama depicting the difficulties encountered by two young things who try to say "good night" in modern fashion. Evelyn Richards played the girl while Elbert Ashland was her young "Galahad."

"Easy Terms" is a drama of domestic life. Matilda Lehman and Ed. White played the young married couple who had such disturbing domestic difficulties. The part of the janitor was taken by Paul Springer.

Ed. White, Norman Myer, Ed. Plutte, Hazel Adamson, and "Buddy" Miller entertained between plays.

This is the first such venture the Theatre has made; up to this time, the plays have been three act productions, and they have been given in the evening. The experiment was a success, according to the students who attended. This was the last affair to be given this semester, but plans are now being made for two plays to be given during summer session.

The plays will be of the three act type and will be given in the evening.

Instructor Attends Annual Convention

Miss Mayer, sponsor of S. T. C. Art Exhibits has an interesting report of the lectures she attended at the Sixth Annual Convention of the Pacific Arts Association in Oakland, California, April 10, 11, and 12. The convention was held in the Oakland Art Gallery.

Work of the graded schools from the Kindergarten through the High Schools of the Pacific Coast, and inland as far as the Rocky Mountains, was exhibited.

Among the speakers who gave talks of interest were Joseph Marr Gwinn, Superintendent of San Francisco Public Schools; Willard E. Givens, Superintendent of Oakland Schools; and William G. Paden, Superintendent of Alameda Schools. Kem Weber, designer of the new Sommer and Kaufman building, and Mrs. Helen N. Rhodes, also spoke.

The "sum and substance" of the convention was told by Miss Mayer in these words: "Although modern trends exist in the schools of today, prospective teachers should make Art courses a vital part in their courses of study."

Male Elected As Club President

The Bookaneer's club members elected 'the only man in the club,' Mr. Mac Grath, as their president for next year at a luncheon, Monday, April 21. S. T. C. women voters show the same impartiality in this election as the Chicago voters who cast a plurality vote for Ruth McCormick, 'only woman in the senate.'

Mrs. Salmon was elected secretary and Mrs. Downey treasurer.

Dr. Arnesen spoke on the plans for the next year. Not only will the short story be studied, but original contributions will be expected from the members.

The faculty women will give a luncheon for the wives of faculty men, especially honoring Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Du Four, Saturday, May 3. Tait's-at-the-Beach will be the scene of the affair.

The Faculty Welfare Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Monroe, Miss Mayer, and Miss Fleming planned the luncheon.

Mrs McCauley Is Back From East

Mrs. McCauley, faculty member and supervisor of music here, arrived home from her trip to Chicago where she attended the National Music Supervisors' Conference.

The instructor left Thursday evening, March 20. The same evening she was joined by Mr. Herman Trutner of Oakland and Mr. Arthur Walberg of Modesto. These two were also supervisors on their way to Chicago.

Sunday, three days later, the trio reached Chicago. They were greeted by the biggest snow storm that Chicago has known for forty years. This phenomenon was followed by days of the hottest weather ever known to that section in the month of April.

The part of the conference that our supervisor enjoyed most was the choral work sung by the outstanding choruses of the U. S. Mrs. McCauley also enjoyed meeting outstanding music supervisors and educators. Among the most important were: Dr. Will Earhart, Peter Deykema, F. P. Giddings, Mable Glenn, and Joe Maddy.

Two weeks were spent in returning, for she stopped to visit many places, including her home town, Champagne, Illinois. She also stopped at Ohio where she spoke several times. The topics were, "The Individual Method of Teaching Music," "Music for the Pre-School Child," and "The Children's Theatre Movement."

Instructor Attends Stanford Reunion

Among the events which attracted large numbers of graduates at the last Stanford Alumni reunion held recently was the luncheon given for Miss McFadden's class by Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Williams. Tables were arranged in the garden of their campus home. Here 54 class mates greeted each other for the first time in 10 years.

Former baseball stars of the class gathered on the diamond to surpass all previous records. Miss McFadden said, "With their children cheering, 'Ah, hit it, dad,' and with the umpire holding bases with a sixshooter, the stars found 'coming back' was hard, and the game was called on account of darkness."

In the late afternoon following the Stanford-University of California track meet, an alumni dinner was given in the Encina dining room, where those assembled had danced the waltz and the minuet in their college days. South American music was played by the Stanford band in the court just outside the clubhouse.

Co-op To Refund On Cash Receipts

The book-store cash register receipts which all thrifty students have been hoarding-up all semester may now be "cashed in."

The book-store manager, Mr. Marples, requests that all the receipts be turned in before the end of the semester. After May 9, there will be no refunds on this semester's slips. The receipts obtained this term will not be valid in the next college year.

In order to procure the refund, every student should place his receipts inside an envelope. On the outside he should write his name and permanent address. He should also state the total face value of all the slips.

Mr. Marples states that all persons turning in their envelopes of receipts before May 7 may receive their checks by May 9.

Here and There

Dr. Barney was made chairman of Child Welfare Club for the City and County Federation of Women's Clubs, March 31, at a meeting at 609 Sutter Street. The City and County have approximately 90 clubs. Each has a chairman who will be co-operating with Dr. Barney in furthering the child welfare program.

The work of the Parent Teachers Association pertains to the welfare of children in school, and here Dr. Barney has already given much service. But, with the new chairmanship, her services will extend far and wide.

Dr. Barney was for many years president of the Women's Physician Club. She has always taken an active part in club work, so that she is well prepared for the work of the new chairmanship.

"All upper division students, those who have completed 60 units of work in the required subjects, and who want to take lower division subjects next term must obtain permission by submitting a petition," announced Miss Vance.

A student may obtain permission to carry a course without first meeting the published prerequisites. But in these cases permission shall rest with the department concerned and shall be granted only upon the presentation to said committee of a petition submitted by the student and countersigned by the advisor and instructor.

Upper division courses are those whose numbers are 100 or over.

The Northern California Conference on the Education of Exceptional Children held meetings at the William Taylor Hotel, Saturday, April 26. Round table discussions were carried on between speeches.

At the conference dinner at 6:30 o'clock, Dr. Roberts, S. T. C. president, officiated as toastmaster. Mr. Vierling Kersey, Superintendent of Public Instruction, was the guest speaker.

During the general meeting Mr. Gist, director of our training school, spoke on the two subjects: How California is Providing Education for the Crippled Child, and Specialized Teacher Training.

Mr. Mundt, the faculty chairman of the Publicity Committee, announces that the new catalog will be completed and ready for distribution at the close of this semester.

Changes and additions are numerous. The changes in requirements are to be especially noticed. The catalog includes several new credentials and a number of new courses.

The frontispiece consists of a complete map of the college and campus, not as it now appears but as it will look when the present plans are finished. This is something entirely new to S. T. C. catalogs.

Lockers must be cleaned out and left open by May 9. If any of the locks are not moved, or if articles are left inside the lockers, they will be confiscated and never returned.

BOOK NOOK

The Woman Of Andras

Thornton Wilder

Thornton Wilder's new novel, "The Woman of Andras" is a short tale written with classic simplicity. It describes life in ancient Greece shortly before the beginning of the Christian era. With a disregard of prevailing fashions in novels, Mr. Wilder writes a story dealing with fortunes of Pamphilus, a Greek youth, on the island of Byrnos, whose life is affected by the wisdom of Chripis, a courtesan. Chrysis gathers about her the youths of the town and teaches them that life is a precious treasure to be enjoyed, the bitter with the sweet; that unalloyed happiness is not to be desired because life, in its ideal state, could not be endured by man.

Pamphilus, who is to marry the daughter of a neighbor, according to Greek custom, falls in love with Glycerium, the sister of Chrysis. He breaks with his father because he cannot bear to see her suffer for his love. But a reconcilliation is effected, and Pamphilus looks forward to endless bliss when his spirit is tried again by a most severe test—and he draws on this experience for a guiding philosophy of life.

Whether a philosophy can be distilled out of human experience without reliance on the gods is the modern aspect of Mr. Wilder's problem.

Faculty Increased By Dean Of Men

A Dean of Men! We're to have one next term.

Dr. Roberts has come to the conclusion that since the men of this college have grown from two to thirty-nine in number during the last two years, and since they will probably double this number next term, it is time they should have a Dean of Men. This Dean, whose identity has not been divulged, will also coach men's athletics.

The addition of this faculty member means that new emphasis will be placed on intra-mural sports next term. The men are looking forward to the time when they will play rival colleges and bring home, figuratively speaking, the axe.

S. T. C. cafeteria will soon be supplied with natural gas. The work of changing over from manufactured gas to natural gas, in San Francisco and the East Bay centers, has proceeded at the rate of about a 1100 homes a day. The valley line, which will supply the college, is the largest high-pressure natural gas-main in the world.

Alumni Bridge Tea Planned At Hotel

Many reservations have been made for the annual bridge-tea to be given by the S. T. C. Alumni on Saturday, May 17, at the Hotel St. Francis.

Mrs. Parr, who is working for the success of the annual reunion, says, "Mileage is not considered by loyal alumni of S. T. C., who travel from every section of the state to be present at these gatherings. You should hear the buzz over the tea cups. Everyone is relating unheard of experiences of the past or renewing old friendships."

Miss Victorine Murphy, 178 Carl Street, Miss Vance, and Mrs. Parr will provide the alumni with tickets. Table reservations cost $4. Individual tickets cost $1.

Extension Division Courses Scheduled

Extension Division courses for the fall semester have already been scheduled by Mr. Boulware, director of extension.

With but one or two exceptions, all the instructors in these courses are S. T. C. faculty members. The courses are as follows:

Education 134—Teaching of Reading in the Elementary Grades, Mr. Gist.

Education 135—Introduction to Measurement in Education, Mr. Boulware.

English 101 — Advanced Expository Discourse, Miss Kleinecke.

English 26—Puppetry Workshop, Miss Casebolt.

English 21—Classroom Dramatization, Miss Casebolt.

Social Science 102—History of the United States, Dr. Michell.

Social Science 142—International Relations, Mrs. Cowell.

Social Science 111—Personalities from French History, Dr. Du Four.

All classes in extension will begin August 18, 1930. All further information as to times and places of courses is in Mr. Boulware's hands.

New Sport Makes Debut In S. T. C.

Away back in Medieval times gentlemen used swords to win arguments over their "ladies fair," gambling debts, or other divers trifles. Swords are coming back—even to S. T. C.

Any afternoon these days, there can be seen on the gymnasium terrace, pairs of college men vigoursely waving swords in combat, for fencing has been introduced as the latest sport by the male students here.

Led by Lloyd Hughes, an experienced fencer, the men of the college applied to the Physical Education Department for permission to organize a class. They asked, also, for equipment. The department complied with the request, and the class was organized. Lloyd is the instructor. So far the enrollment is limited to four men and one woman.

Those now playing "Two up and one down" are, Paul Springer, Henry Barsotti, Tom Bragg, Floyd Hughes, and Dorothy Givinn.

Instructor Stops Class at Request To Close Window

Dr. Du Four, dean of S.T.C. had the unusual experience of being interrupted in an important lecture on big business, Monday, April 7, by a student who wished a window closed. Dean Du Four gallantly ceased speaking and closed the offending window.

Members of the S. S. 8B class were amused at the daring of the student, who will go unnamed. Probably feeling that the chill from the open window would numb her fingers, and fearing to miss some of the instructor's remarks, she craftily asked him to close the window, thus killing two birds with one stone.

Dean Du Four, after finishing the task remarked that up to that time he had not known how to close the windows of Room 210. He was assisted in gaining this knowledge by the students in the vicinity of the window.

Pen, Speech Arts Make For Success

The best guarantee for a successful business career is college training in journalism and public speaking, if an investigation held recently at Stanford can be taken seriously.

As a result of the rather extensive study, the Stanford faculty found that those who take journalism and public speaking not only make a success in business but also do better as students in college.

The investigation was made to determine the most successful students. After much study and discussion, the authorities came to the conclusion that students with writing and speaking ability came "out on top." Statistics also showed that those students who were popular athletic "heroes" of the college were not as successful in life as others. Some of these popular men are now salesmen with small earning capacity. On the other hand, the presidents of the student body and editors of the daily paper are now successful business men with high salaries.

A Spring Formal will be given by the alumnae of Phi Lambda Chi, Saturday evening, May 10, at the Hillcrest Club.

"Gussie" Higginson is in charge of the affair. Her committee members are, Eleanor Rafter, Edith Forrest, and "Jerry" Eggleston.

Degree Students Give Bridge Dinner

The Degree Students' first dinner and bridge party was held in the ballroom of the Bellevue Hotel, Friday evening, April 11.

Thirty-two classmates gathered around tables which were decorated with sweetpeeas, tulips and ferns. The Easter motif was carried out by means of baskets of candy eggs, bunnies and Easter bonnets.

Mrs. Fay Salmon entertained the guests with some amusing classroom anecdotes. Rose Cohen played a number of popular melodies between courses.

The group sang a class song composed by Pearl Levin, who claimed to have written the masterpiece while in a crystal-gazing trance.

An unusual number of poets, hitherto thought to be student teachers only, were discovered in a contest held during dinner. Poetic tributes to dinner partners took the form of odes, sonnets and heroic couplets. Judges finally awarded the prize to Claire Pedersen.

Tennis Champion Appears On Campus

Hungarian smashes, Australian cannonballs, and Russian thunderbolts are the latest tennis serves to be developed on the campus.

If anyone is interested in these new features all he has to do is to watch the faculty "trio" in action on the tennis courts. The trio consists of Dr. Cave, Mr. Morse, and Dr. Arnesen, who meet for a game every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Gladys Benard is their coach.

Dr. Cave and Mr. Morse are just brushing up, each having been someewhat of a local champion in his home town.

Although tennis is new to Dr. Arnesen, his enthusiasm for it is so great that he has invented these new smashes, cannonballs and thunderbolts. His vigor may also account for the sudden and vast improvement on the part of his opponents.

Miss Benard declares that the members of the trio are keen about the game, and that nothing short of a cloudburst keeps them off the courts.

If lobster-red faces and Eddy Peabody hair effects are any indications, the matches certainly must be hard fought.

The way to hidden treasures was revealed to S. T. C. students in Education 186 by Miss Barnsby, Alameda County Librarian. She says, "Books, maps, phonographs, and records will be sent at the teacher's request to schools in 46 out of 58 counties in California.
